About graduation

To graduate from UBC, you must complete a formal application process that consists of two components:

1. Graduation Application

This application must be submitted to receive your parchment and to indicate whether or not you plan to attend the ceremony.

2. Program Completion Application in Workday

This application must be submitted to have your degree conferred by the Senate and officially completed.

You must complete both the Graduation Application and the Program Completion Application or you will not be eligible to graduate.

Before you apply to graduate, review the graduation application dates for spring and fall.

Step 1: Submit the Graduation Application

First, go to the Graduation Application

1. Use your CWL to log into graduation.students.ubc.ca to access your Student Portal.
2. Select 'Apply for Graduation' to start your Graduation Application.

A red box highlights the 'APPLY FOR GRADUATION' button and a tooltip that says 'Apply for Graduation - Click here to submit a graduation application.' Below the table, there is a search bar for 'Current Applications' and a section for 'Program of Study Name' which currently shows 'No Graduation Applications submitted'.

Program Completion Status

There are a number of program completion statuses that may appear on your academic record once you have applied to graduate.

Program Completion Status	Description	When does this status change?
Applied for Completion	Your Program Completion Application has been submitted successfully and will be reviewed.	This status remains from the time after you submit your Program Completion Application until your application is reviewed. The review process may not occur until closer to May or November.
Evaluation Deferred	Your application has been reviewed. You will be approved for graduation once you successfully complete your remaining academic requirements in your final term.	This can happen any time after you submit your Program Completion Application and before the May or November Senate meetings.
Approved for Completion	Your application has been reviewed. You have been approved to graduate, but your degree has not yet officially been conferred by the Senate.	This status will appear after you have successfully completed all your course requirements, and your final grades have been submitted (including grades for transfer credits).
Denied	You have not satisfied the academic requirements for graduation, or you have withdrawn your application for program completion.	This status can appear any time after your application has been reviewed and you do not meet program requirements, or you have withdrawn your application.

Step 4: Submit Your Program Completion Questionnaire (may be required)

After submitting your Program Completion Application, you will receive the Program Completion Questionnaire sent to your “My Tasks” inbox in Workday.

The Program completion questionnaire is optional unless you have outstanding transfer credits (courses taken at another institution) that need to be added to your record to meet degree requirements. In this case, you must submit a Program Completion Questionnaire.

1. Click the “My Tasks” inbox icon at the top right of the page, or select the task on the Workday landing page under “Awaiting Your Action”.

2. Click on the inbox notification titled “Apply for Program Completion Event” to open the questionnaire.

3. Complete the questionnaire by selecting “Yes” or “No” for the question.
4. Review your answer before proceeding. Once you submit, you will not be able to make changes or view your response.
5. Click the orange “Submit” button to submit the questionnaire.
