SSHRC's application instructions

Attach a PDF copy of your research proposal. Write your proposal in clear, plain language. Avoid discipline-specific jargon, acronyms and highly technical terms when writing your research proposal. Your application will be reviewed by members of a multidisciplinary selection committee, not all of whom will be familiar with your area of research.

Ensure that your text includes the following required elements, especially with respect to your research proposal.

If you are not currently enrolled in a doctoral degree program:

- clearly state your current level of study;
- give the title and a brief description of your master's thesis or research project, if applicable;
- identify the degree program that you will pursue, including any relevant courses, and provide an explanation for your choice; and
- provide an outline of your doctoral thesis or research project, including the research question(s), context, objectives, methodology and significance and expected contribution to the advancement of knowledge, and your special interests in the proposed area of research.

If you are currently enrolled in a doctoral degree program:

- clearly state your current level of graduate study;
- indicate at what stage you are in your thesis/research project;
- provide the name of your supervisor of doctoral studies, if known;
- provide an outline of your thesis or research project, including, for example, the research question(s), context, objectives, methodology and significance and expected contribution to the advancement of knowledge; and
- describe what you hope to accomplish during the award tenure and what will remain to be done before you obtain your degree.

Notes: If your proposed research overlaps with areas funded by other granting agencies, justify your submission of this proposal to SSHRC (rather than to NSERC or CIHR), based on the General Guidelines for the Eligibility of Subject Matter at SSHRC. If in doubt about the eligibility of your proposed research, consult SSHRC staff by emailing fellowships@sshrc-crsh.gc.ca prior to the submission of your application.

If your project involves Indigenous research, please refer to the section Does your proposal involve Indigenous research, as defined by SSHRC? before preparing your proposal.

If your project uses a research-creation approach, clearly indicate its research component. Outline the objectives of your research and the context, methodology, and expected contribution to the advancement of knowledge.

SSHRC's definitions

Indigenous research:

Research in any field or discipline that is conducted by, grounded in or engaged with First Nations, Inuit, Métis or other Indigenous nations, communities, societies or individuals, and their wisdom, cultures, experiences or knowledge systems, as expressed in their dynamic forms, past and present. Indigenous research can embrace the intellectual, physical, emotional and/or spiritual dimensions of knowledge in creative and interconnected relationships with people, places and the natural environment.

Whatever the methodologies or perspectives that apply in a given context, researchers who conduct Indigenous research, whether they are Indigenous or non-Indigenous themselves, commit to respectful relationships with all Indigenous peoples and communities.

This understanding of Indigenous research reaffirms SSHRC's support of research by and with Indigenous peoples. Research by and with Indigenous peoples and communities emphasizes and values their existing strengths, assets and knowledge systems.

All research involving Indigenous peoples must be undertaken in accordance with the second edition of the Tri-Council Policy Statement: Ethical Conduct for Research Involving Humans, and, in particular, Chapter 9: Research Involving the First Nations, Inuit and Métis Peoples of Canada.

Research-creation:

An approach to research that combines creative and academic research practices, and supports the development of knowledge and innovation through artistic expression, scholarly investigation, and experimentation. The creation process is situated within the research activity and produces critically informed work in a variety of media (art forms). Research-creation cannot be limited to the interpretation or analysis of a creator's work, conventional works of technological development, or work that focuses on the creation of curricula. The research-creation process and the resulting artistic work are judged according to SSHRC's established merit review criteria.

Fields that may involve research-creation may include, but are not limited to: architecture, design, creative writing, visual arts (e.g., painting, drawing, sculpture, ceramics, textiles), performing arts (e.g., dance, music, theatre), film, video, performance art, interdisciplinary arts, media and electronic arts, and new artistic practices.

SSHRC's application instructions

If applicable, attach a PDF document.

SSHRC asks its adjudication committees to take into consideration special circumstances that may have affected candidates' research, professional career, record of academic or research achievement, or completion of degrees. Relevant circumstances might include administrative responsibilities, maternity/parental leave, child-rearing, illness, disability, cultural or community responsibilities, socio-economic context, or health-related family responsibilities. Please specify the dates for any delays or interruptions.

As part of the Indigenous Talent Measures, Indigenous applicants are encouraged to use the "Allowable Inclusions" section of their application form to describe special circumstances that may have had an impact on their academic or career paths. For additional information, please consult the Indigenous Talent Measures page on the SSHRC website.

Transcripts

SSHRC's presentation specifications for transcripts

- PDF format (.pdf extension); unprotected
- Maximum file size of 3MB
- 8 ½" x 11" (216 mm x 279 mm); all margins set at a minimum of ¾" (1.87 cm)
- Body text in a minimum 12 pt Times New Roman font
- Single-spaced, with no more than 6 lines of type per inch

SSHRC's application instructions

Up-to-date official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate studies should be included in the application. Retain the paper copy of any uploaded transcripts, as you may be asked to provide it for verification purposes.

If transcripts are not provided for all programs of study listed in the SSHRC CV, the selection committee(s) will have less information on which to base their assessment, which may put your application at a disadvantage.

Requirements:

- Up-to-date official transcripts are defined as transcripts issued by the Registrar's Office and dated or issued in the fall session of the year of application (if currently registered) or after the last term completed (if not currently registered).
- Applicants with transcripts written in a language other than English or French must provide a certified English or French translation.
- Applicants who are or were registered at an institution that does not provide transcripts must submit, in lieu of a transcript, a letter bearing the official institution seal/stamp or a letter signed by the Dean of Graduate Studies confirming the applicant's program of study, the applicant's registration status, the date of initial registration, the degree obtained or sought, and the fact that the institution does not provide transcripts.

Note: Applications without transcripts are considered incomplete.

Clarifications for applicants applying through UBC

Certified copies are acceptable

- UBC Academic History from SISC is acceptable for students applying through UBC
 - Must show 2019W registration
 - It is also required for those who have no UBC registration prior to 2019W
- e:Vision transcripts must be validated and uploaded by G+PS - stamped "G+PS Official"

If applicable, append an “Official Letter to Confirm Part-time Study and/or Leave of Absence” to the transcript attachment - maximum one page (only if applicable)

In calculating the value and duration of awards, SSHRC assumes that all doctoral studies were full-time and uninterrupted. If, as part of your doctoral studies, you have studied on a part-time basis, or have interrupted your studies with your institution’s official approval, you must upload an official letter from the registrar (or assigned designate) at your institution confirming the change of registration status in your doctoral program (including dates and duration). No deduction of months of study will be made unless an official letter is included with your application.

Clarifications for applicants applying through UBC

- Letters confirming approval leave of absence can be obtained from the applicant’s graduate program
- Letters must be on UBC letterhead and signed by the graduate advisor or department head
- Questions can be directed to graduate.awards@ubc.ca

SSHRC's application instructions

Attach a PDF copy of your research contributions including any knowledge translation outputs as well as a description of your relevant experience and activities.

Given the page limits, be selective and summarize information where appropriate. Provide information in the two sections listed below. The maximum number of pages that you are permitted to use in total, for both sections, is two pages.

Part I – Research Contributions

Provide details, as appropriate, on the contributions you list, as follows:

- In the left margin, identify refereed publications with an "R". A refereed work is assessed:
 - in its entirety—not merely an abstract or extract;
 - before publication; and
 - by appropriately independent, anonymous, qualified experts ("independent" in this context means at arm's length from the author).
- Specify your role in co-authored publications.
- For published contributions, provide complete bibliographic details as they appear in the original publication (including co-authors, title, publisher, journal, volume, date of publication, page numbers, number of pages, etc.).
- For publications in languages other than French or English, provide a translation of the title and the name of the publication.

Note: A thesis is not considered a refereed publication.

Group your contributions by category in the following order, listing your most recent contributions first:

Refereed contributions:

Examples include books (where applicable, subdivide according to those that are single-authored, co-authored and edited works), monographs, book chapters, articles in scholarly refereed journals, conference proceedings, etc.

Other refereed contributions

Examples include papers presented at scholarly meetings or conferences, articles in professional or trade journals, etc.

Non-refereed contributions

Examples include book reviews, published reviews of your work, research reports, policy papers, public lectures, posters, community products, etc.

Forthcoming contributions

Indicate one of the following statuses—"submitted", "revised and submitted", "accepted" or "in press". Provide the name of the journal or book publisher and the number of pages. Contributions not yet submitted should not be listed.

Creative outputs

Applicants whose research outputs include an artistic creation may list their most significant achievements, starting with the most recent, in a separate category: "Creative outputs." This category may be followed by the categories shown above, as appropriate. Examples of creative outputs may include, for example, exhibitions, performances, publications, presentations, film, video, audio recordings, etc.

Although it is possible to list research contributions, SSHRC recognizes that some applicants may not yet have publications or other research contributions to list.

Note: In the context of Indigenous research and as per the Guidelines for the Merit Review of Indigenous Research, other contributions can be listed within existing or additional categories.

Part II – Applicant’s Statement

In this section, group your comments under the following headings:

Relevant experience

Describe the research abilities that you have gained through your past research experience, including special projects, honours/master’s thesis, co-op reports, etc. If you have relevant work experience, discuss the relevance of that experience to your proposed field of study/research and any benefits you gained from it.

This section may also be used to describe your training relative to your proposed research such as knowledge gained through lived experience and traditional teachings.

Relevant activities

Describe your participation in relevant professional, academic and extracurricular activities as well as collaborations with supervisors, colleagues, peers, students and members of the community, such as:

- teaching, mentoring, supervising and/or coaching
- managing projects
- participating in science and/or research promotion
- community outreach, volunteer work and/or civic engagement
- chairing committees and/or organizing conferences and meetings
- participating in departmental or institutional organizations, associations, societies and/or clubs

Reminders for applicants

- Referees should have had sufficient opportunity to assess your research ability and potential and the relevance of your experience and achievements obtained within and beyond academia, as described in the selection criteria.
- One referee should be very familiar with your research and abilities (i.e. current or previous research supervisor) and the other should be sufficiently familiar with your research and abilities to provide a meaningful commentary.
- It is your responsibility to ensure that all required application components have been submitted (including all attachments and letters). The system does not allow submission of incomplete applications.
- Make sure you give your referees enough time to complete and submit their support letter so that your application can be submitted in advance of the deadline date. Typically, there is a very high volume of users in the online system on the last day, which may create delays and put timely submission at risk.
- Note: You will not be able to view the appraisals at the time you complete and submit your application.

Instructions provided to referees

- Type your text directly into the box, or cut and paste it from a document prepared using a word processor. You may enter only plain, unformatted text, not bold type, italics, script, underscoring, formulas or special characters. You must not exceed one page (maximum of 2,500 characters). To confirm that your text will fit, save your information and select Preview, then adjust accordingly.
- You may save your form and modify its content at a later time. In order to access the form again, you will need to click on the link provided in the automated email invitation you received. When the letter of appraisal form is completed, select the Accept and Submit from the left-hand navigation bar.
- Notes: Letters of appraisal must be completed and submitted online. Letters provided in formats will not be accepted.
