STRATEGIES FOR PRESENTING YOUR RESEARCH IN 3 MINUTES (VIA WEBINAR)

This session will review strategies for delivering a compelling presentation in the 2020 Three Minute Thesis Competition at UBC (3MT@UBC 2020), valuable methods that may be applied broadly to oral dissemination of your research (conference presentations, job interviews, networking events).

Can you tell me about your research? This question is not always easy to answer when talking to individuals outside your immediate field of research, even harder when you have a short amount of time, and especially when you are alone on stage. How do you engage your audience and maintain their attention? Should you use humour? What is your story?

This interactive coaching session is designed to help participants communicate their research effectively and will provide advice on planning presentations, tips and techniques on delivery, demos and even an opportunity for small group practice.
